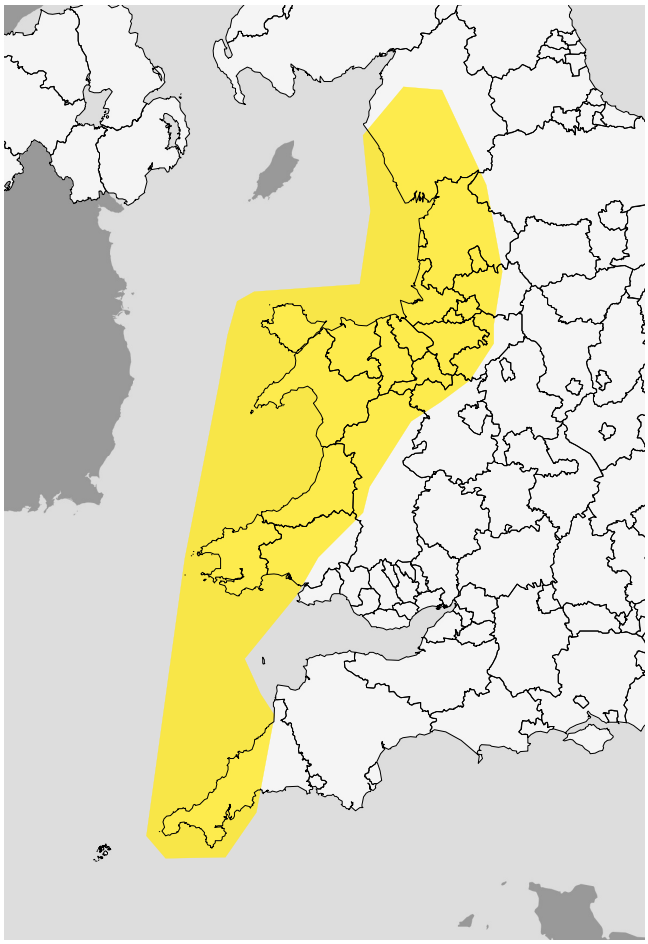
Yellow warning
Ice

Between
18:00 Thu 18 Jan 2024 and
10:00 Fri 19 Jan 2024



Icy patches may lead to some travel disruption.

What to expect

- Some injuries from slips and falls on icy surfaces
- Probably some icy patches on some untreated roads, pavements and cycle paths

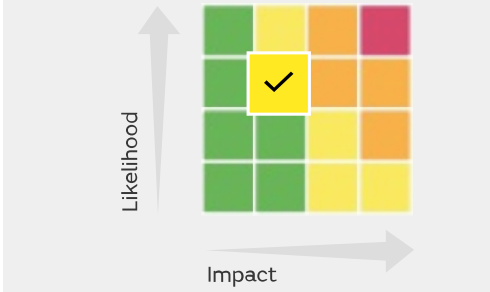
Further details

Wintry showers will likely continue for a time this morning, and whilst these are light, where they leave surfaces damp or snow-covered some icy patches may form as skies clear.

What should I do?

Keep yourself and your family safe when it is icy. Plan to leave the house at least five minutes earlier than normal. Not needing to rush, reduces your risk of accidents, slips, and falls.

If you need to make a journey on foot, try to use pavements along main roads which are likely to be less slippery.



Medium likelihood of low impacts

Further Details (continued)

Similarly, if cycling, try and stick to main roads which are more likely to have been treated.

Give yourself the best chance of avoiding delays by checking road conditions if driving, or bus and train timetables, amending your travel plans if necessary.

Be prepared for weather warnings to change: when a weather warning is issued, the Met Office recommends staying up to date with the weather forecast in your area.

Reason for update

A few wintry showers have developed across northwest England which could generate patchy ice, so the warning has been extended further north to cater for these.
